15 NATIONS WILL SIGN ANTI-WAR PACT TODAY

GREAT EFFORT TOWARDS ENDING FURTHER WARFARE

THE LEADING STATESMEN WITH FRANK B. KELLOGG TO AF-FIX SIGNATURES

FIRST TWO PARAGRAPHS OF THE PACT ARE QUOTED IN FULL

By RALPH HEINZEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Paris, Aug. 27.—Fifteen leading nations of the world will be represented in the famous clock room of the Quai D'Orsay—where was born the League of Nations—this afternoon when one of the greatest efforts towards preventing further war is started.

The Kellogg anti-war pact will be signed there. Leading statesmen from every one of the 15 nations, including Frank B. Kellogg, the or-iginator, will affix their signatures to the three typed pages of the document.

The 15 men, representing their various nations, will strike boldly at any further attempts at armed differences by agreeing to this pact,
the first two paragraphs of which read:

ARTICLE I
The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the name of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies, and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another.

ARTICLE II
The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means.

The signers of this treaty are:
Germany—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister; United States—
Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of State; Belgium—Paul Hymans, minister of foreign affairs; France—Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs;
Great Britain—Lord Cusheford, acting secretary of state; Canada—
Premier William Lyon Mackenzie
King; Australia—Senator Alexander
John McLauchlan; New Zealand—
Sir C. P. Parr; South Africa—Hon.
Jacobus Stephanus Smits; Ireland—
Patrick MacGilligan, foreign secretary; Italy—Count Gaetano Manzoni, Japan—Count Uchida; Poland—A.
Zeleski, minister of foreign affairs;
Czechoslovakia—Dr. Eduard Benes, minister of foreign affairs.

The men will be grouped around a curved table. Antique furniture dating back many centuries, while a small table in the front will be reserved for the actual signing.

Briand will make a brief speech as each representative appears and the visiting dignitaries may answer or may sign without comment. The signing will be according to the French alphabet and thus Dr. Strese-mann will be the first.

Photographers will be permitted within the ancient room. There will be a radiocast of the proceedings.

Paris was excited about this great peace gesture. The flags of the various nations floated from the Quai D'Orsay while even in the most vivacious parts of the French capital there was comment on the gesture. The appearance of Dr. Strese-mann brought much comment.

The German foreign secretary yesterday went to visit Briand.

From an international viewpoint, that meant very little. Great things had been expected, such as solution of the Rhineland difficulties but Stresemann said his doctor had warned against a lengthy conversation.

The two leading diplomats therefore discussed health conditions and vacation plans.

Paris, Aug. 27.—Representatives of world powers agreed to renounce war today.

At a simple ceremony, solemn and business-like, foreign ministers and delegates of 14 nations affixed their names to a document which pledges them against wars of aggression and denounces war as a national policy.

Germany, the common enemy of most of the other signatory nations in the world war, signed the historic document first.

The signing took place in the great clock room of the French foreign office, the Quai D'Orsay, where the Versailles treaty ending the world war was negotiated.

MISSOURI RIVER TAKES TOLL OF 4 LIVES SUNDAY

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 27.— (U.P.)—The Missouri took a toll of four lives Sunday when a small launch carrying eight persons capsized and dumped its occupants in the water several miles south of here.

All four of the drowning victims were boys. They are Edmund
Adams, 12, Lyle Adams, 9, Ollie

1 PERSON KILLED, NINE ARE INJURED OVER WEEK-END

THREE PERSONS, ALL UNDER 21 YEARS OF AGE, HAVE CAR
COLLIDE WITH ENGINE

GEORGE W. THOMPSON, 72, ST.

STRUCK BY CAR

St. Paul, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—One person was killed and at least nine persons were injured in motor car accidents in the Twin Cities over the week-end.

George W. Thompson, 72, St. Paul, was fatally injured when struck by a motor car driven by Robert Barley, also of St. Paul. Barley was released pending an investigation.

Three persons, all under 21 years old, were critically injured when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a railroad switch engine in Minneapolis. The injured are Eunice Bitson, 19, Thomas Kearns, 20, and Clifford Palmer, 20.
Edwin Levour, driver, and three other passengers were slightly injured.

All other persons injured in accidents were reported not in danger
today.

FOUR RUM RUNNERS LEAP INTO THE SEA BELIEVED DROWNED

Key West, Fla., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)
—Four men—part of the crew of a rum runner captured off shore early today—were believed to have drowned when they jumped overboard as Coast Guard Cutter
No. 225 towed the craft into port.
No trace of the men has been found.

Minister of Germany, signed the treaty at 3:45 P. M. while the assembly applauded.

Kellogg signed for the United States at 3:45 P. M. and also was applauded. He was nervous but happy as he affixed his signature.

The keynote was dignity and lack of the lavish display which usually is associated with such a gathering of high international diplomats.

Paris was gay with flags. The colors of the signing nations floated over the Quai D'Orsay.

The first official arrival was Paul Caudel, French ambassador to Washington, with Mme. Caudel, who came in a taxicab.

Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of state of the United States who, with Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, conceived the treaty, came half an hour early. He was accompanied by Mrs. Kellogg and Myron T. Herrick, United States ambassador to France. The crowd broke into prolonged cheering and Kellogg was obliged to stand hatless, smiling and bowing, for four minutes while he acknowledged the demonstration.

Washington, Aug. 27.—U. S. senate rejection of the Kellogg anti-war treaty, signed in Paris, was regarded as a possibility among many observers and some officials here today. European diplomatic maneuvers,

"intrigue"—particularly the report-

Strict Economy In All Government Business Has Saved Tax Payers of America Millions

GEN. H. M. LORD, BUDGET DIRECTOR, IN STATEMENT

MAKES VOLUMINOUS REPORT TO PRESIDENT COOLIDGE
TODAY

SAYS "COOLIDGE ECONOMY PRO-GRAM HAS BEEN CARRIED OUT TO LETTER"

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY

Washington, Aug. 27.—Strict economy in all government operations has saved American taxpayers many millions of dollars the last fiscal year, Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the budget, reported to President Coolidge today.

He told the nation's chief executive that the "Coolidge economy program" had been carried out to the letter, and listed thousands of old and new methods of saving in the federal machine.

General Lord listed economies that included taking pencil stubs and sticking them in a holder so they could be used a little longer and repeated use of rubber bands until they were big enough to stretch around a bass drum.

His annual report warned that the cost of running the government is mounting annually and said there can be no let-up in the economy program.

Taking advantage of discounts offered the government by firms furnishing supplies saved $5,513,000 last year and adoption of standard forms for routine business activities saved
another million or more, he reported.

He pointed out that unification of the customs, prohibition, immigration and coast guard forces on border patrol work would result in the savings of millions of dollars annually

FLYING SATURDAY FROM VIC-TORIA, B. C., TO SEATTLE,
HOUR'S FLIGHT

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—
Hope virtually was abandoned today
for the four passengers and two pilots of a Ford monoplane last Saturday while flying from Victoria, B.
C., to Seattle, Wash., an hour's
flight.

The Straits of Juan De Fuca were
being searched today for wreckage
of the craft which was believed to have plunged into the waters as a result of the failure of its motor.

Pools of oil on the water discovered yesterday and a report that a loud splash was heard in the fog-
locked region about the time the
plane was passing over the straits,
were the only clues to the plane's
disappearance.

Those on the plane when it disappeared were Mr. and Mrs. A. M.
Scott, England; Dr. D. B. Holden,
Victoria; Thomas E. Lake, Seattle,
passengers, and Harold Walker,
Seattle, chief pilot; and Leonard
Carson, Victoria, relief pilot.

by eliminating duplication of activities.

General Lord announced the revised receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1928,
as follows: receipts, $4,042,384,156, expenditures, $3,643,519,875; surplus, $398,828,281.

"DENY AMERICAN RIGHT TO BLOW FOAM FROM BEER"

GEORGE F. CASHMAN, ST. CLOUD,
OUT CAMPAIGNING
FOR SMITH

ATTACKS PROHIBITION AND MAKES ASSERTION
ABOUT BEER

St. Paul, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—George
F. Cashman, St. Cloud, democratic candidate for the United States senate, addressing a meeting of 100
German-American societies here
Sunday, praised the policies of Governor Alfred E. Smith and attacked
the prohibition laws, "which deny
an American the right to blow the foam from a glass of beer."

He declared the republican party
endorses the Hamiltonian ideal of government which gives privileges
to a few while the democrats believe
in privileges distributed among all.
He suggested the election of Governor Smith in the effort to "change
things and bring back the liberty
that was the keynote of Jefferson's career."

He defended Tammany with the statement that "you have to go back 60 years to find a black mark against Tammany, while look at the records
of Vane and Thompson."

Congressman Melvin J. Maas repeated the wet sentiments given out
two years ago when he deserted the dry republican ranks. Other speakers included Mayor L. C. Hodgson of
St. Paul and Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor candidate for governor.

J. A. JEFFREY, 91, MANUFACTURER, DIES

Columbus, O., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—

board of directors of the Jeffrey

manufacturers of mining machinery
in the world, died at his home here

Washington, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—
General business conditions were reported favorable today in a business review made public by the Federal Reserve Board.

"Industrial and trade activity
was in larger volume in July
than is usual in mid-summer and
the general level of commodity
prices advanced slightly," the Board announced.

Unemployment among organized
wage earners increased 1 per cent
during July, as compared with the previous month, according to a survey of 24 cities by the American Federationist, official organ of the American Federation of Labor.

HOOVER IN CONFERENCE WITH LEADERS

YORK, NEW JERSEY AND MASSACHUSETTS

SOON

Washington, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—
Herbert Hoover went into conference today with republican leaders
from three of the most vital campaign states of the east—New York,
New Jersey and Massachusetts—to plan the opening of his active campaign there.

The three who met him were Charles B. Hilles, republican national committeeman of New York; Daniel E. Pomeroy, national committeeman of New Jersey and James D.
Reynolds, close friend of President
Coolidge and former Chairman Butler of Massachusetts.

By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, Aug. 27.—The demand which Herbert Hoover made
in his acceptance speech has been put into practice in the organization
of his own campaign family.

His advisers, secretaries, steno-graphers and publicity men are members of the Protestant, Catholic
or Hebrew faiths, his friends pointed out today. They contended his managers were rigidly following Hoover's
command that religion must in no
way enter the presidential contest.

Colonel William J. Donovan, assistant attorney general and probably the closest legal adviser of the candidate, is a Catholic. Another well known adviser is Hebrew. Two of the three girl stenographers employed in Hoover's private office who
were taken with him on his trip
west are Catholics. The only publicity man taken to Palo Alto for the acceptance speech is Catholic, five of the ten men employed in the Washington publicity headquarters are Protestants and the others are Catholic or Hebrew.

Hoover is a descendant of the persecuted Quakers and in his Palo Alto speech pleaded what he called
the right of every man to worship
God as he pleased.

The nominee went to the I. Street
Orthodox Quaker church here yesterday and spent Sunday in rest,
preparing for an important week of
conferences planning his campaign.

It was announced he would call in
his eastern managers immediately
for a round table discussion of his personal speaking campaign.

Arrangements were made for him
to move today into the Frothingham
mansion near his home to establish his Washington offices there.

SEVERE RAIN AT OMAHA HAS DEATH TOLL OF 3

Omaha, Aug. 27.—Three persons
were killed and more than thirty injured in a severe rain, hail and wind
storm which started near Omaha Sunday and swept forty miles into southwestern Iowa.

Those killed are: James H. Jervie, farmer; his 5-year-old son, and an infant son of George Smith, farmer,
all of Ellio, Iowa. All three persons were crushed in wreckage of their homes.

Rescue parties, after an all night
battle with fallen trees, poles and muddy roads, succeeded in reaching Elliot from Red Oak at 2 o'clock
this morning. They found fifteen homes damaged by the storm and six persons seriously injured. Four of the damaged homes were completely destroyed.

WATERS SWEEP RONDOUT VAL-LEY FROM GRAHAMSVILLE
TO ROSENDALE

5 MAIN HIGHWAY BRIDGES AND
CARRIED AWAY

Middletown, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)
—Two men are known to have lost their lives and seventeen others are believed dead as the result of the cloudburst which swept the narrow Rondout valley from Grahamsville
to Rosendale, a distance of about 25
miles.

The flood carried away five main highway bridges and a score of
smaller spans, virtually marooning
the villages of Ruka, Montels, Lackawack and Napanoch.

The known dead are Abe Blatt, of Lackawack, torn from the arms of rescuers by a torrent after he had carried his invalid wife to safety,
and Charles Lavery, 50, of Paterson,
who lost his grip on a rope and was
swept from sight in the torrent.

Between one thousand and two thousand summer residents of the valley were saved from drowning
by volunteers, headed by Chief of Police Harold Ross and Corporal J.
B. Norton of the state police, aided by the Ellenville fire department.

Rosendale, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Twenty-five boys, who had been stranded
for more than 12 hours on an island
as Rondout creek overflowed after a cloudburst, were saved early today
when tow lines were tossed to them
and they made their way to the mainland.

Thomas Krisc, living just across from the island where the boys had
their encampment, brought about
the rescue after he had enlisted several persons to aid.

dangerous. It still is flowing from twenty-five to thirty feet above its normal level and the rain continues.

Krisc said he had not heard of any casualties yet but had heard reports that several villages lying below Grahamsville had been washed
out.

Ellenville, N. Y., Aug. 27.—With
from four to seven persons missing
and several hundred marooned on hilltops and in automobiles, one of the worst floods in the history of this locality was receding today into
the regular channel of Rondout
creek.

A cloudburst in the Catskills Sunday afternoon sent the creek out of its banks. As the flood swept over an area 20 miles long and seven miles wide, it carried everything before it, washing out bridges and marooning villages.

Although communication has not yet been re-established with some of
the villages along the creek, it is believed here that the death toll will not be as high as at first expected.

Two persons were reported missing from a group of 200 marooned
at the club house and on the surrounding hills of the Lackawack
Country Club of Napanoch, near here. Three other persons were said to have been lost while fording
the creek in an automobile just as
the waters were beginning to rise.

The waters were receding rapidly
today and authorities here believed
all marooned parties would be re-cued by noon.

With the whole of Manhattan stunned and terrified by the gravest subway tragedy in ten years, 17 dead and 156 injured were swiftly removed from Brooklyn-bound express which had jumped the track and crashed into concrete tunnel partition. In a chaos of on track and helped passengers to safety. Telephoto shows dead being carried from the

FLYING SATURDAY FROM VIC-
TORIA, B. C. TO SEATTLE,
HOUR'S FLIGHT

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—
Hope virtually was abandoned today
for the four passengers and two
pilots of a Ford monoplane last Saturday while flying from Victoria, B.
flight.

The Straits of Juan De Fuca were
being searched today for wreckage
of the craft which was believed to
have plunged into the waters as a result of the failure of its motor.

Pools of oil on the water discovered yesterday and a report that a
loud splash was heard in the fog-
locked region about the time the
plane was passing over the straits,
were the only clues to the plane's
disappearance.

Those on the plane when it disappeared were Mr. and Mrs. A. M.
Scott, England; Dr. D. B. Holden,
Victoria; Thomas E. Lake, Seattle,
passengers, and Harold Walker,
Seattle, chief pilot; and Leonard

"DENY AMERICAN RIGHT TO BLOW FOAM FROM BEER"

GEORGE F. CASHMAN, ST. CLOUD,
OUT CAMPAIGNING
FOR SMITH

MAKES ASSERTION

St. Paul, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—George
F. Cashman, St. Cloud, democratic candidate for the United States senate, addressing a meeting of 100
German-American societies here
Sunday, praised the policies of Governor Alfred E. Smith and attacked
the prohibition laws, "which deny
an American the right to blow the
foam from a glass of beer."

He declared the republican party
endorses the Hamiltonian ideal of
government which gives privileges
to a few while the democrats believe
in privileges distributed among all.
He suggested the election of Governor Smith in the effort to "change
things and bring back the liberty

He defended Tammany with the
60 years to find a black mark against Tammany, while look at the records
of Vane and Thompson."

Congressman Melvin J. Maas repeated the wet sentiments given out
two years ago when he deserted the
dry republican ranks. Other speakers included Mayor L. C. Hodgson of
St. Paul and Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor candidate for governor.

Washington, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—
General business conditions were
reported favorable today in a business review made public by the Federal Reserve Board.

"Industrial and trade activity
was in larger volume in July
than is usual in mid-summer and
the general level of commodity
prices advanced slightly," the Board announced.

Unemployment among organized
wage earners increased 1 per cent
during July, as compared with the previous month, according to a
survey of 24 cities by the American Federationist, official organ of the bor.

HOOVER IN CONFERENCE WITH LEADERS

MASSACHUSETTS

SOON

Washington, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—
Herbert Hoover went into conference today with republican leaders
from three of the most vital campaign states of the east—New York,
New Jersey and Massachusetts—to
plan the opening of his active campaign there.

The three who met him were Charles B. Hilles, republican national committeeman of New York; Daniel E. Pomeroy, national committeeman of New Jersey and James D.
Reynolds, close friend of President
Coolidge and former Chairman Butler of Massachusetts.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The demand which Herbert Hoover made
in his acceptance speech has been
put into practice in the organization
of his own campaign family.

His advisers, secretaries, steno-graphers and publicity men are
members of the Protestant, Catholic
or Hebrew faiths, his friends pointed
out today. They contended his managers were rigidly following Hoover's
command that religion must in no

Colonel William J. Donovan, assistant attorney general and probably the closest legal adviser of the candidate, is a Catholic. Another
well known adviser is Hebrew. Two
of the three girl stenographers employed in Hoover's private office who
were taken with him on his trip
west are Catholics. The only publicity man taken to Palo Alto for the
acceptance speech is Catholic, five of
the ten men employed in the Washington publicity headquarters are Protestants and the others are Catholic or Hebrew.

Hoover is a descendant of the per-
secuted Quakers and in his Palo Alto speech pleaded what he called
the right of every man to worship
God as he pleased.

The nominee went to the I. Street
Orthodox Quaker church here yesterday and spent Sunday in rest,
preparing for an important week of
conferences planning his campaign.

It was announced he would call in
for a round table discussion of his personal speaking campaign.

Arrangements were made for him
to move today into the Frothingham
mansion near his home to establish
his Washington offices there.

GENE TUNNEY TO MEET SHAW TODAY

Dublin, Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—Gene Tunney today prepared to return to London in order that he might meet George Bernard Shaw.

The former heavyweight champion was invited to visit the famous dramatist through a telegram Shaw sent from southern France. Shaw said he was curtailing a vacation in order that he might meet the retired boxing champion.

This meeting probably will be on September 15 and Gene said there was not a thing that would prevent him from keeping that one engagement.

WATERS SWEEP RONDOUT VAL-LEY FROM GRAHAMSVILLE

5 MAIN HIGHWAY BRIDGES AND
CARRIED AWAY

Middletown, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)
—Two men are known to have lost
believed dead as the result of the
cloudburst which swept the narrow Rondout valley from Grahamsville
miles.

The flood carried away five main
highway bridges and a score of
smaller spans, virtually marooning
the villages of Rucka, Montels, Lackawack and Napanoch.

The known dead are Abe Blatt, of Lackawack, torn from the arms of
rescuers by a torrent after he had
carried his invalid wife to safety,
and Charles Lavery, 50, of Paterson,
who lost his grip on a rope and was
swept from sight in the torrent.

thousand summer residents of the
valley were saved from drowning
by volunteers, headed by Chief of Police Harold Ross and Corporal J.
B. Norton of the state police, aided

Rosendale, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Twenty-five boys, who had been stranded
for more than 12 hours on an island
as Rondout creek overflowed after a
cloudburst, were saved early today
when tow lines were tossed to them
and they made their way to the mainland.

Thomas Kriese, living just across
from the island where the boys had
their encampment, brought about
the rescue after he had enlisted several persons to aid.

dangerous. It still is flowing from twenty-five to thirty feet above its
normal level and the rain continues.
Kriese said he had not heard of
any casualties yet but had heard reports that several villages lying below Grahamsville had been washed
out.

Ellenville, N. Y., Aug. 27.—With
from four to seven persons missing
and several hundred marooned on hilltops and in automobiles, one of
the worst floods in the history of
this locality was receding today into
the regular channel of Rondout
creek.

A cloudburst in the Catskills Sunday afternoon sent the creek out of its banks. As the flood swept over
miles wide, it carried everything before it, washing out bridges and
marooning villages.

Although communication has not yet been re-established with some of
the villages along the creek, it is believed here that the death toll will
not be as high as at first expected.

Two persons were reported miss-
ing from a group of 200 marooned
at the club house and on the surrounding hills of the Lackawack
Country Club of Napanoch, near
here. Three other persons were
said to have been lost while fording
the creek in an automobile just as
the waters were beginning to rise.

today and authorities here believed
all marooned parties would be re-
cued by noon.

Omaha, Aug. 27.—Three persons
were killed and more than thirty injured in a severe rain, hail and wind
storm which started near Omaha Sun-
day and swept forty miles into
southwestern Iowa.

Those killed are: James H. Jervic,
farmer; his 5-year-old son, and an
infant son of George Smith, farmer,
all of Elliocks, Iowa. All three persons were crushed in wreckage of
their homes.

Rescue parties, after an all night
battle with fallen trees, poles and
muddy roads, succeeded in reaching
Elliot from Red Oak at 2 o'clock
this morning. They found fifteen
homes damaged by the storm and
six persons seriously injured. Four of the damaged homes were completely destroyed.

Corn land was laid flat in many

With the whole of Manhattan stunned and terrified by the gravest subway tragedy in ten years, 17 dead and 156 injured were swiftly removed from Brooklyn-bound express which had jumped the track and crashed into concrete tunnel partition. In a chaos of screams and moans, of darkness, panic and fire, rescuers forced open the cars remaining on track and helped passengers to safety. Telephoto shows dead being carried from the Fortieth street entrance of subway.

The Little Falls Transcript says: "Last Friday the town board of Clough let the contract to the Hewitt Bridge Company, of Minneapolis for the removal of the old Little Falls wagon bridge to Fort Ripley and its reconstruction for $4,000. The bridge to be completed by March 1, 1904.

Ohm-Bergstrand

Miss Delphine Bergstrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Bergstrand, Oak street, and Emmons F. Ohm, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ohm, Brainerd, were married at the home of the bride at 10 a. m. Saturday, Rev. August Samuelson officiating.

The couple was attended by Milton Bergstrand and Miss Dorothy Hanson. Before the ceremony, Miss Bernice Samuelson sang "O Promise Me" and after the ceremony "I Love You Truly."

F. M. Hagberg played Lohengrin's wedding march. Mr. Hagberg also had the honor of playing at the wedding of the bride's mother and two aunts.

A dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride to 50 guests. The bride has for the past two and one half years been employed at the E. F. Gates store. Mr. Ohm is an employee of the Northern Pacific Railway Co. here.

The bride wore a dress of bisque beige georgette crepe adorned with a bouquet of roses and baby breath. Miss Hanson wore a dress of satin face crepe trimmed with sweet peas and baby breath.

The couple left on the 1:15 p. m. train Saturday for a three weeks tour of the west coast to include Los Angeles, Seattle and other points. They will make their future home in Brainerd.

Out of the city guests were Rev. E. G. Carlson, and family, of Kent City, Mich., Clarence Ohm and family and Mrs. Cable and family, of Minneapolis.

For Fall Bride

Mrs. Ira L. Tomlinson entertained Thursday in honor of Miss Jennie O. Wilson of Minneapolis, who will be a fall bride. Miss Wilson was presented with a beautiful gift as a remembrance from her Brainerd friends. About 20 ladies enjoyed the evening in conversation and music, after which a delicious lunch was served. Miss Wilson returned to her home Saturday evening.

SMALL BOY IS CRUSHED TO DEATH

Warren, Minn., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—Harry Johnson, 9-year-old son of Carl O. Johnson, was crushed to death near here when a threshing rig water tank on which he was riding overturned and pinned him in a ditch.

Harry, with other small boys, was watching threshing operations a mile north of town when he climbed on the unattended water tank. The horses on the tank started across the field on their own account and swung so far out near a railroad ditch that the tank overturned and the boy was pinned beneath the load.

Funeral services for the small victim will be held here.

CAR HITS CONCRETE BRIDGE, TWO HURT

H. Bachman, Minneapolis, Occupant of Car, Receives Body and Head Cuts

CAR BADLY DAMAGED

Loose Gravel Blamed for Accident Yesterday Afternoon Near Cook's Corner

Loose gravel was blamed for the accident yesterday afternoon when a Buick sedan driven by a girl crashed into a concrete bridge on Highway No. 18 near Cook's Corner, injuring two of the occupants of the car.

H. Bachman of Minneapolis received several cuts about the face and hands although he was not in a serious condition. He was treated by local physicians at the Brainerd hospital.

The girl driver whose name is unknown here, received minor bruises. She narrowly escaped serious injury when the steering wheel was torn from the steering rod and thrown through the windshield. The car did not turn over.

RIDDLES

What does a lawyer do when he dies? Lies still.

Plant the king of beasts and what will come up? Dandelion.

Why did the pine tree pine? Because it saw the weeping willow weep.

What has to be taken of you before it can be given to you? Your photograph.

When are freight cars like two letters of the alphabet? When they are M. T. (empty).

What four letters in the alphabet would frighten a thief? O. L. C. U. (Oh, I see you!).

From what word of six letters can you take away one and yet have twelve? Dozens dozen.

If a farmer can raise 250 bushels of corn in dry weather, what can he raise in wet weather? An umbrella.

For what profession are members of a college boat crew best fitted? For dentistry because they have a good pull.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE MODERN BOTTLE

Only in Recent Times Has Science Given Us the Handy, Useful Containers We Know Today

With millions of bottles in daily use as containers for all manner of products, it is hard to realize that we haven't always had them in their present variety and quantity. Yet the history of bottle making is a gradual evolution from the time when history was nothing more than tradition and J. F. Cibazar of the Brainerd Bottling Works, of Brainerd, has gathered some interesting facts about this evolution.

"The first bottles," says Mr. Cibazar, "were made of skins—animal skins—hair side out, and all sewed up tight, excepting one opening which was 'corked' by tying it up with a thong. Oddly enough, these skin bottles are still used in some parts of the world and I understand that down in Brazil they sometimes do their churning by filling one of these skins with cream and then dragging it over the ground behind a galloping horse.

"The ancient Cretans, as far back as 2500 B. C., had learned how to make bottles of pottery and painted them beautifully. In Egypt, excavators have found examples of rather fine glass bottles, dating from about 2000 B. C. The world has used skins, pottery, glass, stone, alabaster, ivory, bone, porcelain, bronze and even silver and gold as material for bottles. But such bottles were costly and making them was an art. It was only in recent times that processes were developed which permitted the manufacture of bottles in any desired shape in such quantities as to make them commercially practical.

"Recently, bottles are being made in special shapes for the particular use of certain manufacturers and are characteristic of the products they contain. One of the first was the Coca Cola bottle. It is used all over the world for Coca-Cola and nothing else."

James P. McGinnis gave a delightful dancing party last night to a large number of young friends in the Elks hall. He is about to depart for St. John's university to take up a commercial course.

The announcement has been made, though not officially, that Edwin C. Blanchard will succeed George W. Vanderslice as superintendent of the Superior division of the Northern Pacific railroad.

The management of the local baseball team is trying to arrange a game with Staples for Sunday to be played in this city. Staples made the bluff that they would play for $50 a side and they were caught napping. It is understood they want to back down.

The Little Falls Transcript says: "Last Friday the town board of Clough let the contract to the Hewitt Bridge Company, of Minneapolis for the removal of the old Little Falls wagon bridge to Fort Ripley and its reconstruction for $4,000, the bridge to be completed by March 1, 1904.

Ohm-Bergstrand

Miss Delphine Bergstrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Bergstrand, Oak street, and Emmons F. Ohm, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ohm, Brainerd, were married at the home of the bride at 10 a. m. Saturday, Rev. August Samuelson officiating.

The couple was attended by Milton Bergstrand and Miss Dorothy Hanson. Before the ceremony, Miss Bernice Samuelson sang "O Promise Me" and after the ceremony "I Love You Truly."

F. M. Hagberg played Lohengrin's wedding march. Mr. Hagberg also had the honor of playing at the wedding of the bride's mother and two aunts.

A dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride to 50 guests. The bride has for the past two and one half years been employed at the E. E. Gates store. Mr. Ohm is an employee of the Northern Pacific Railway Co. here.

The bride wore a dress of bisque beige georgette crepe adorned with a bouquet of roses and baby breath. Miss Hanson wore a dress of satin face crepe trimmed with sweet peas and baby breath.

The couple left on the 1:15 p. m. train Saturday for a three weeks tour of the west coast to include Los Angeles, Seattle and other points. They will make their future home in Brainerd.

Out of the city guests were Rev. E. G. Carlson, and family, of Kent City, Mich., Clarence Ohm and family and Mrs. Cable and family, of Minneapolis.

For Fall Bride

Mrs. Ira L. Tomlinson entertained Thursday in honor of Miss Jennie O. Wilson of Minneapolis, who will be a fall bride. Miss Wilson was presented with a beautiful gift as a remembrance, from her Brainerd friends. About 20 ladies enjoyed the evening in conversation and music, after which a delicious lunch was served. Miss Wilson returned to her home Saturday evening.

SMALL BOY IS CRUSHED TO DEATH

Warren, Minn., Aug. 27.—(UP)—Harry Johnson, 9-year-old son of Carl O. Johnson, was crushed to death near here when a threshing rig water tank on which he was riding overturned and pinned him in a ditch.

Harry, with other small boys, was watching threshing operations a mile north of town when he climbed on the unattended water tank. The horses on the tank started across the field on their own account and swung so far out near a railroad ditch that the tank overturned and the boy was pinned beneath the load.

Funeral services for the small victim will be held here.

H. Bachman, Minneapolis, Occupant of Car, Receives Body and Head Cuts

Loose Gravel Blamed for Accident Yesterday Afternoon Near Cook's Corner

Loose gravel was blamed for the accident yesterday afternoon when a Buick sedan driven by a girl crashed into a concrete bridge on Highway No. 18 near Cook's Corner, injuring two of the occupants of the car.

H. Bachman of Minneapolis received several cuts about the face and hands although he was not in a serious condition. He was treated by local physicians at the Brainerd hospital.

The girl driver whose name is unknown here, received minor bruises. She narrowly escaped serious injury when the steering wheel was torn from the steering rod and thrown through the windshield. The car did not turn over.

RIDDLES

What does a lawyer do when he dies? Lies still.

What has to be taken of you before it can be given to you? Your photograph.

When are freight cars like two letters of the alphabet? When they are M. T. (empty).

What four letters in the alphabet would frighten a thief? O. L. C. U. (Oh, I see you!).

World Demands Service

Virtue is never passive. Just doing nothing isn't being good. An egg that merely lies around gets rotten. The world doesn't need passive righteousness half as much as it needs active service, so be up and doing your bit.—Grit.

Sincerity

Sincerity is not something that can be taken on and put off. To the wise observer no pretense can be a substitute for sincerity. You believe in a man or you don't. THE EVOLUTION OF THE MODERN BOTTLE

Only in Recent Times Has Science Given Us the Handy, Useful Containers We Know Today

With millions of bottles in daily use as containers for all manner of products, it is hard to realize that we haven't always had them in their present variety and quantity. Yet the history of bottle making is a gradual evolution from the time when history was nothing more than tradition and J. F. Cibazar of the Brainerd Bottling Works, of Brainerd, has gathered some interesting facts about this evolution.

"The first bottles," says Mr. Cibazar, "were made of skins—animal skins—hair side out, and all sewed up tight, excepting one opening which was 'corked' by tying it up with a thong. Oddly enough, these skin bottles are still used in some parts of the world and I understand that down in Brazil they sometimes do their churning by filling one of these skins with cream and then dragging it over the ground behind a galloping horse.

"The ancient Cretans, as far back as 2500 B. C., had learned how to make bottles of pottery and painted them beautifully. In Egypt, excavators have found examples of rather fine glass bottles, dating from about 2000 B. C. The world has used skins, pottery, glass, stone, alabaster, ivory, bone, porcelain, bronze and even silver and gold as material for bottles. But such bottles were costly and making them was an art. It was only in recent times that processes were developed which permitted the manufacture of bottles in any desired shape in such quantities as to make them commercially practical.

"Recently, bottles are being made in special shapes for the particular use of certain manufacturers and are characteristic of the products they contain. One of the first was the Coca Cola bottle. It is used all over the world for Coca-Cola and nothing else."

BRAINERD MAN GIVEN PLACE IN BYRD TRIP

Quinn Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blackburn Named Geologist on Expedition

GRADUATE OF B. H. S.

Studied Geology at Two Universities; Has Been Cruising Timber in Northwest

Quinn Blackburn, 29 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blackburn, 824 North 9th street, has been named geologist on the Byrd Antarctic Expedition this fall, according to word received this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn.

News of his selection to join the noted explorer and his crew of hardy men selected from the country's best came to Quinn Blackburn at Klamath Falls, Oregon. He will leave soon to join Commander Richard Byrd in the east and prepare to start with him in the Antarctic expedition.

Quinn Blackburn is a graduate of the Brainerd high school of the class of '17. He has been cruising timber in the northwest since his graduation from the University of Montana in 1924. He studied geology at Missoula and secured an important part of his learning at the University of Washington.

Blackburn is the second Brainerd man to have been selected on the cruise. F. C. McKinley, nephew of Ashley McKinley being chosen previously.

SWAMP DRAINAGE TO AID GROWTH OF TIMBER, STATED

POLICY APPROVED BY DEPARTMENT OF ADMINISTRATION AND FINANCE

BIG THREE TO CO-OPERATE WITH FEDERAL GOVERNMENT EARLY IN SEPTEMBER

St. Paul, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Drainage of swamps to increase timber growth in Minnesota was approved today by the department of administration and finance.

The Big Three decided to co-operate with the federal government beginning in September, in the study of effective drainage of swamps over the state.

Among the groups who will spend about 30 days in the study of drainage will be the University of Minnesota, the state department of drainage and waters, the state department of forestry and fire prevention, the bureau of public roads of the U. S. department of agriculture, and the lake states experiment station, operated by the federal forestry service.

Three crews of men will go into the north woods to do field work beginning early next month. About $2,000 will be spent in the project.

The Big Three approved the drainage plan today after specimens of tamarack showed that a 15-year-old tree from undrained lands was two inches in diameter, while a tree of the same age from a drained plot was eight inches in diameter.

William Tell a Myth?

According to the story, William Tell lived in the early part of the fourteenth century. His life and death are related in detail. William Tell a Myth?

According to the story, William Tell lived in the early part of the fourteenth century. His life and death are related in detail. However, parish records were kept at that time, and his name does not appear. None of the well-known events of his life can be substantiated, and that he lived at all is doubted.

GOVERNOR SMITH AND THE TARIFF

ALL of Governor Smith's speeches, acceptance as well as others made previously to his being a candidate, are being closely scanned. The St. Paul Pioneer Press takes up Smith's reference to the tariff in this fashion:

An adequate tariff is the foundation of farm relief. This is true, not because Herbert Hoover said it in his recent speech of acceptance, but because farmers of the Northwest have long known it from practical experience. The protective tariff policy of the Republican party more than any other principle has held them in allegiance to that political faith. The Democratic party now having made professed conversion from its former free trade tendencies to the protective system, an examination is proper into the soundness of its beliefs, particularly as affecting agriculture. Both the party and its candidates can rightly be considered probationers subject to inquiry both as to past record and present orthodoxy in doctrine.

Candidate Smith in his speech of acceptance made reference to the Underwood Tariff bill, saying: "The Democratic party does not, and under my leadership will not, advocate any sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system which would cause business upheaval and popular distress. This principle was recognized as far back as the passage of the Underwood Tariff bill. Our platform restates it in unmistakable language."

The Underwood bill was enacted into law in 1913, at the beginning of the Wilson administration when the Democratic party was in control of Congress. Having been cited by Governor Smith as a reference for his conservative opposition to "any sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system," its schedules and changes are worth examination, particularly as they applied to agricultural products in which the Northwest is so vitally concerned.

Prior to 1913 there was in effect the Payne-Aldrich act, passed by a Republican Congress in 1909. It imposed varying duties upon a variety of products of the farm. For example, beef, veal, mutton and pork were protected at 1 1-2 cents per pound. The duty on milk was 2 cents per gallon, on cream 5 cents per gallon, on butter 6 cents per pound, on eggs in the shell 5 cents per dozen, on corn 15 cents per bushel, on wheat 25 cents per bushel, on potatoes 25 cents per bushel. Bacon and ham had duties of 4 cents per pound.

Then came the Underwood tariff of 1913, which according to Governor Smith established the principle of no sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system. There is something amiss here. The facts seem not to agree with the candidate's declaration, at least so far as the tariff on agricultural products is concerned. All save butter of the commodities cited above, protected in the Payne-Aldrich bill, were put on the free list in the Underwood bill. In fact, the revolution in the agricultural economic system was so drastic that the farm was swept practically clean of tariff protection.

The list of agricultural products protected by tariff both before and after the Underwood act but placed by it on the free list is a long one. Some of the principal items in which farmers of Minnesota and adjoining states are vitally concerned are worth reading. Check off this Underwood free list: Fresh beef and veal, lamb, mutton, sheep, bacon and hams, lard, fresh pork, shoulders and other pork prepared or preserved, swine, meats fresh, prepared or preserved, cream, fresh milk, condensed milk, eggs in the shell, buckwheat flour grits or groats, buckwheat hulls or unhulled, corn including cracked corn, corn grits, meal flour and similar products, rye, rye flour and meal, wheat, bran, potatoes.

A few farm products were given protection but at radically reduced rates. Butter, for example, was reduced by the Underwood act from 6 cents per pound to 2 1-2 cents, only to be raised to 8 cents in the present tariff law. The rates on barley and barley products were cut in half but have since been restored. The duty on oats was lowered by the Underwood act from 15 cents to 6 cents per bushel, but it is now back where it was before. Potatoes have been lifted from the Underwood free list to protection of 50 cents per hundred pounds. Hay that had been cut in half is restored to its $4 per ton duty.

When Governor Smith was basing his reassurance to business on the Underwood tariff act, he unfortunately must have failed to read the agricultural schedules. Certainly the Northwest has different views as to what constitutes sudden or drastic revolution in its economic system.

FALLING FROM A HEIGHT

MANY people have dreamed of falling from a height and just about when they were to land in a heap, something or other happened in the dream which deferred the smashup. The sensation of falling, as experienced in a dream, resembles the swoop of your car when you coast up and down hills or when idling with an airplane.

People have often wondered at what speed the human body falls and according to the Associated Press, the Army Air Corps after a large number of experiments has disapproved the theory long held by scientists and others that a person falling from a great altitude would be rendered unconscious or would travel at such a terrific speed as to be killed before reaching the earth.

Alpine guides who have slid down glaciers and lived to tell the tale claimed there was no sensation of pain gliding down nor on arrival after being injured, that is at least 24 hours after the crash.

A definite statement is made by the experimental department of the Corps that a man falling from any altitude with a parachute pack never attains a velocity greater than 118 miles an hour and does not lose consciousness.

Experiments in determining these facts disclosed that a dummy the size and weight of a 180-pound man attains that velocity within 11 seconds and after falling 1,200 feet in quiet air. From then on down no increase in speed is attained.

As a means of reducing the heavy annual death rate caused by carbon monoxide, the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce, has completed a one-reel educational motion picture film entitled, "Carbon Monoxide: The Unseen Danger".

IT MUST be a surprise to some of the political "agricultural" experts to know that Hoover owns a large farm that is making money.

"THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN"

OPENS CHUTE AFTER 3,400-FOOT DIVE

After plunging through space for 13 1-2 seconds Jack Cope, veteran daredevil, pulled the rip cord of his parachute and checked the terrific speed with which he had fallen 3,400 feet. He had stepped through the cabin door of his plane 10,000 feet above Ashburne Field, Chicago.

He was recently formally arrested for stealing and eating twenty-three goldfish which he discovered in a neighbor's pond, was imprisoned and held until his master, Julius F. Friedlander, gave bail for his release. Buster is reminiscing at the scene of his crime.

This principle was recognized as far back as the passage of the Underwood Tariff bill. Our platform restates it in unmistakable language."

The Underwood bill was enacted into law in 1913, at the beginning of the Wilson administration when the Democratic party was in control of Congress. Having been cited by Governor Smith as a reference for his conservative opposition to "any sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system," its schedules and changes are worth examination, particularly as they applied to agricultural products in which the Northwest is so vitally concerned.

UNDEFENDED TITLE IS AT STAKE TODAY IN TENNIS PLAY

TILDEN 2ND, AND HUNTER NOT ENTERED

TILDEN BARRED FROM AMATEUR TENNIS FOR VIOLATING THE PLAYER-WRITER RULE

Chestnut Hill, Mass., Aug. 27. (UP)—An undefended title was at stake today when play opened in one of America's annual tennis classics, the national doubles.

William T. Tilden, 2nd, and Francis T. Hunter, doubles champions, will not defend their laurels because Tilden has been barred from amateur tennis by the U. S. L. T. A. for violation of the player-writer rule, and Hunter has refused to enter the tournament with another partner.

On the courts of the Longwood Cricket club throughout the week, 19 American teams will fight to keep the championship in America, while 13 foreign combinations, representing six countries, will seek to wrest the title from the United States.

Teams representing France, England, Australia, Mexico, Canada and Cuba will compete.

EVEN MONEY IS UP ON THE WALKER EMANUEL FIGHT

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Even money was the usual offer today on the Mickey Walker-Armand Emanuel 10-round bout here tonight, while a few betters offered slight odds on Walker, middle-weight champion.

Emanuel, San Francisco light-heavyweight, had a strong following among coast sportsmen.

The bout will be a non-title affair with Walker sealing about 164 and Emanuel expected to weigh 175 pounds.

Song Popular Among Rovers of Caribbean

The sea-song of the pirates with its weird refrain of "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest" which Robert Louis Stevenson introduces into his famous book "Treasure Island" is in part at least authentic and was sung by the pirates and buccanniers who roved the Caribbean sea in the late Seventeenth and early Eighteenth centuries. Dead Man's Chest was an island of the Virgin group, which has been christened "Dead Chest Island," thereby losing much of its piratical flavor. To this island the pirates used to repair, to careen their ships, stretch their legs, drink rum, slug their buccannery songs and make merry after their own fashion. Curiously enough there is a little church on the Chilean coast which is obviously built of ship's timbers. Recently a traveler of an inquiring mind, reasoning that if the church were built of ship's timbers, the bell would also come from a ship, determined to investigate. A climb among the rafters did not reveal the name of the ship, as he had hoped, but around the edge of the bell were inscribed the words: "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest." All that the clergyman knew was that the church bell came from a ship that was wrecked in 1722, which was just the time when the West Indies were getting hot for pirates, and many were being driven into the Pacific.

TURN IN SCORE OF 95 OUT OF 100 TARGETS

IS LOWEST SCORE TO WIN THE HANDICAP SINCE 1908

AT THAT TIME FRED HARLOW OF NEWARK WON WITH 92

Alto, O., Aug. 27.—Shooting from the 20-yard line, Ike Andrews of Spartansburg, S. C., won the grand American handicap championship, the highest honor in trapshooting, with a score of 95 out of 100 targets.

Andrews went out early, turned in his score and all but forgot about it. As the remainder of 791 shooters went to the traps to battle a stiff breeze, Andrews began to realize that perhaps 95 wasn't so bad after all, and he found himself victor.

It was the lowest score to win a grand American since 1908, when Fred Harlow of Newark won at Columbus with a 92.

Timothy Acreage Much Too Large

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Declaring the hay acreage of the United States is overexpanded at the present time, Edward C. Parker, hay marketing specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, told the twentieth annual convention of the Farm Seed Association of North America, at Chicago, recently, that timothy and timothy-mixed hay acreage may be expected to decrease during the next decade.

The least needed and least productive meadows in our overexpanded acreage, he said, are the old timothy meadows in the East North Central and North Atlantic states, and the prairie meadows in the North Central and South Central states. Some of these old timothy meadows, he predicted, will be abandoned or converted into permanent pastures because the demand for timothy in the cities and southern markets is insufficient to absorb all the surplus hay possible of production on these lands.

No Logical Facts for Forecast.

"Looking further," Mr. Parker declared, "to that time when the present downward trend of live stock population ceases and an upward trend begins, we have no logical facts on which to base a forecast that timothy acreage will increase and return to its former extent. The hay habits and requirements of the country have changed materially in the past twenty years and when the need for a greater hay acreage does arise we may expect that the increase will be largely of alfalfa, clover, soy beans and other annual legumes."

It should be remembered, however, the speaker pointed out, that there are extensive areas in that part of the United States between the Atlantic seaboard and the Missouri river and north of latitude 36 degrees that are naturally adapted to the growth of timothy and in which the soil areas suitable for alfalfa, clover and other legumes are limited, so that the present timothy acreage will not be supplanted wholly by other hay crops. A material substitution of timothy-and-clover-mixed acreage for pure timothy acreage is highly probable in the years to come, and a substitution of alfalfa acreage for timothy acreage may be anticipated in this area.

New Use for Timothy.

"In all areas where soil or climate, or both, are unfavorable to legume hay crops, but are favorable for timothy," Mr. Parker concluded, "timothy will persist as an important forage for farm horses, and in a somewhat restricted degree, as compared with former times, for cattle. A new use for timothy as a soil binder and green manure crop may develop also in the Southern states that will augment the demand for timothy seed."

Mr. Parker furnished statistics showing that although timothy hay acreage has decreased in the last few years, the decrease has not been equal to the decreased demand for timothy. Motorization of industries in cities has reduced the demand, and increased production of annual legumes and Johnson grass in the South has curtailed the demand for north-eastern timothy.

HILLER LEADS LINNEMANN, 8 UP

SEMI-FINALS YESTERDAY FINDS WRAY HILLER GAINING SUBSTANTIAL LEAD

The semi-final round report of the W. R. Hiller-John Linnemann 72-hole match at the Brainerd Country club played yesterday morning shows Hiller leading, 8 up.

Eighteen holes remain in the play and will be played next Sunday morning.

Hiller's medal score for yesterday's 18 holes was 37 and 41, a total of 78, while Linnemann's medal score was 43 and 46, a total of 89.

Hiller entered the semi-finals yesterday one down but took nine holes in yesterday's play to gain a substantial lead.

First Door Knockers Utilized as Weapons

The decorative quality of door knockers has been gaining in recognition and is now held in popular favor, says a writer in Your Home Magazine.

"Door knockers," reads Your Home, "were little known in the obscure reaches of ancient history, and their development from articles of mere utility to objects of art has covered centuries. The Greeks considered it a breach of etiquette to enter a house without warning the inmates. Spartans gave this notice by shouting their arrival, but the Athenians announced themselves by using the knocker, which introduction was doubtless made at the time when doors superseded hangings for purposes of greater privacy or safety. First it consisted of a rod-like piece of iron chained to the door, but unfriendly visitors sometimes wrenched it from the door and used it as a weapon of offense against the inmates. It was then that the form was changed to that of a heavy ring fastened by a strong clasp or plate to the door, thus serving the double purpose of knocker and handle. From Greece the custom was transmitted to the Romans and through their conquests to nearly every country of Europe. It was not long before they were very much elaborated, beveled, chased and designed in many variations, of which reproductions may be found for the door that would be interesting today."

ROY O. WEST TO START LONG TOUR OF WEST

TO EXAMINE MEANS OF IRRIGATING NOW BARREN LANDS

St. Paul, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Roy O. West, newly appointed secretary of the interior, and other government officials, prepared to meet here today and tomorrow prior to a tour of the northwest in the interests of reclamation.

Dr. Elwood Mead, United States commissioner of reclamation, who arrived here before the others of the party, said the group would study means of irrigating now barren lands and would foster development of territories already irrigated.

Dr. Mead said 2,000 farmers are needed to work the already irrigated vacant lands.

The tour will have as a primary interest the study of work already begun and possible methods of awakening farmers to the possibilities of their lands.

The reclamation students will leave St. Paul late Tuesday for the lower Yellowstone river country in eastern Montana. After a tour of Montana and Wyoming the party will return to Chicago.

Superior, Wis., Aug. 27.—Roy O. West, recently appointed secretary of the interior, arrived here today, enroute to Cedar Island Lodge where he will be the guest of President Coolidge.

Juvenile Curiosity

Little Margaret had been presented with a splendid toy with which she was never tired of playing; in fact, she played with it all day long.

"Margaret," remarked her mother, "how is it that you never play with any of your other toys?" "Oh, let her play with it," protested the child's father. "As soon as the novelty wears off she'll stop."

A few minutes later mother noticed her little daughter examining the toy very closely, and asked what she was doing.

"Looking for the novelty that wears off," the little one replied.—Pearson's.

Lead in North America

Lead was mined and smelted near Falling Creek, Va., as early as 1621. During the Colonial times there were lead mines in North Carolina, New York and New England where the metal was obtained on a small scale. Lead ores in Missouri were discovered in 1700 by Pennicaut and first worked in 1720.

By QUIN HALL.
BURLEIGH GRIMES, one of the few moist-ball hurlers left in the big leagues, the fellow who was cast adrift by the Brooklyn Robins and later by the New York Giants, is having one of the best years of his career of 12 seasons in the majors.

In case it is necessary to classify Grimes, he is the big right-handed moundsman who is heaving for the Pirates and while it seems that the gallop this year is lost to the Buccaneers they have been putting on spurts of late and it is barely possible they will come through. That National League canter remains a close one according to anybody's clocking and there is still time for the leaders to crack and give any of three or four teams a chance to put on an "in the stretch" rally.

No matter what happens Burleigh Grimes has been doing his chores in a workmanlike manner and he has stepped up to the prophesying table and made the announcement that he is aiming at 30 victories for 1926.

This figure seems to be well within reason and it wouldn't be at all surprising to see him click up that score or even better.

He has pitched in as many or more innings than any other twirler in the big show and that is a good indication that Donnie Bush is taking full advantage of the good form shown by the big fellow this year.

It's really too bad the Pirates hit the bad breaks during the early part of the season. Pittsburgh has one of the best ball clubs under the big top that goes despite the terrible beating they took at the hands of the Yankees last Fall. They had their misfortunes earlier this year but they have done a good job of climbing since they obtained a fresh grip and those victories rung up by Grimes have played no small part in the showing they have made.

A lot of fans could never figure why John McGraw gave up the spit ball and the same goes for Uncle Robbie, of Brooklyn, who apparently is striking snags in following the precedent of bringing a pennant to Dodgerland as has been his habit during most Presidential election years.

And so Burleigh is tossing them high, wide and handsome for the Pirates and probably neither McGraw or Robinson would admit they'd made a mistake even if they thought they had—managers are like that.

While Grimes is having a bang-up season on the mound he's adding more horses to his string of trotting nags. Maybe it isn't generally known that Grimes goes in for the high steppers but he owns one of the biggest stables of trotting horses in the West. He's always been a lover of dogs and horses and until this year his hobby was buying bird dogs. This Spring he switched his affection to the trotters and from last reports he owned a herd of 23—if a bunch of trotters can be referred to as a herd. He is fondling an ambition to become a trainer when his beard becomes so long that it gets mixed up with his arms while winding up on the hill.

With every pay check that he gets from Barney Dreyfuss Burleigh sets part of it aside for the purchase of more high-class horse flesh and he's campaigning his string over the half-mile ovals. His stables, by the way, are located at Minerva, Ohio.

So when Grimes gets too feeble to twist over the benders to the opposing batsmen he'll still have a lot of speed around him, but from the way he's performing this year it is likely he won't be allowed to become a trainer of high steppers for some time to come.

UNDEFENDED TITLE IS AT STAKE TODAY IN TENNIS PLAY

TILDEN BARRED FROM AMATEUR TENNIS FOR VIOLATING THE PLAYER-WRITER RULE

Chestnut Hill, Mass., Aug. 27. (UP)—An undefended title was at stake today when play opened in one of America's annual tennis classics, the national doubles.

William T. Tilden, 2nd, and Francis T. Hunter, doubles champions, will not defend their laurels because Tilden has been barred from amateur tennis by the U. S. L. T. A. for violation of the player-writer rule, and Hunter has refused to enter the tournament with another partner.

On the courts of the Longwood Cricket club throughout the week, 19 American teams will fight to keep the championship in America, while 13 foreign combinations, representing six countries, will seek to wrest the title from the United States.

Teams representing France, England, Australia, Mexico, Canada and Cuba will compete.

SEMI-FINALS YESTERDAY FINDS WRAY HILLER GAINING SUBSTANTIAL LEAD

The semi-final round report of the W. R. Hiller-John Linnemann 72-hole match at the Brainerd Country club played yesterday morning shows Hiller leading, 8 up.

Eighteen holes remain in the play and will be played next Sunday morning.

Hiller's medal score for yesterday's 18 holes was 37 and 41, a total of 78, while Linnemann's medal score was 43 and 46, a total of 89.

Hiller entered the semi-finals yesterday one down but took nine holes in yesterday's play to gain a substantial lead.

First Door Knockers Utilized as Weapons

The decorative quality of door knockers has been gaining in recognition and is now held in popular favor, says a writer in Your Home Magazine.

"Door knockers," reads Your Home, "were little known in the obscure reaches of ancient history, and their development from articles of mere utility to objects of art has covered centuries. The Greeks considered it a breach of etiquette to enter a house without warning the inmates. Spartans gave this notice by shouting their arrival, but the Athenians announced themselves by using the knocker, which introduction was doubtless made at the time when doors superseded hangings for purposes of greater privacy or safety. First it consisted of a rod-like piece of iron chained to the door, but unfriendly visitors sometimes wrenched it from the door and used it as a weapon of offense against the inmates. It was then that the form was changed to that of a heavy ring fastened by a strong clamp or plate to the door, thus serving the double purpose of knocker and handle. From Greece the custom was transmitted to the Romans and through their conquests to nearly every country of Europe. It was not long before they were very much elaborated, beveled, chased and designed in many variations, of which reproductions may be found for the door that would be interesting today."

TO EXAMINE MEANS OF IRRIGATING NOW BARREN LANDS

St. Paul, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Roy O. West, newly appointed secretary of the interior, and other government officials, prepared to meet here today and tomorrow prior to a tour of the northwest in the interests of reclamation.

Dr. Elwood Mead, United States commissioner of reclamation, who arrived here before the others of the party, said the group would study means of irrigating now barren lands and would foster development of territories already irrigated.

Dr. Mead said 2,000 farmers are needed to work the already irrigated vacant lands.

The tour will have as a primary interest the study of work already begun and possible methods of awakening farmers to the possibilities of their lands.

The reclamation students will leave St. Paul late Tuesday for the lower Yellowstone river country in eastern Montana. After a tour of Montana and Wyoming the party will return to Chicago.

Superior, Wis., Aug. 27.—Roy O. West, recently appointed secretary of the interior, arrived here today, enroute to Cedar Island Lodge where he will be the guest of President Coolidge.

Juvenile Curiosity

Little Margaret had been presented with a splendid toy with which she was never tired of playing; in fact, she played with it all day long.

"Margaret," remarked her mother, "how is it that you never play with any of your other toys?"

"Oh, let her play with it," protested the child's father. "As soon as the novelty wears off she'll stop."

A few minutes later mother noticed her little daughter examining the toy very closely, and asked what she was doing.

Lead in North America

Lead was mined and smelted near Falling Creek, Va., as early as 1621. During the Colonial times there were lead mines in North Carolina, New York and New England where the metal was obtained on a small scale. Lead ores in Missouri were discovered in 1700 by Pennicutt and first worked in 1720.

MOIST BALL HURLER OF PITTSBURGH PIRATES WHO HOPES TO RING UP THIRTY VICTORIES BEFORE CLOSE OF PRESENT SEASON.

By QUIN HALL.
BURLEIGH GRIMES, one of the few moist-ball hurlers left in the big leagues, the fellow who was cast adrift by the Brooklyn Robins and later by the New York Giants, is having one of the best years of his career of 12 seasons in the majors.

In case it is necessary to classify Grimes, he is the big right-handed moundman who is heaving for the Pittsburgh Pirates and while it seems that the gallop this year is lost to the Buccaneers they have been putting on spurts of late and it is barely possible they will come through. That National League center remains a close one accord is anybody's clocking and there is still time for the leaders to crack and give any of three or four teams a chance to put on an "in the stretch" rally.

No matter what happens Burleigh Grimes has been doing his chores in a workmanlike manner and he has stepped up to the prophesying table and made the announcement that he is aiming at 30 victories for 1934.

This figure seems to be well within reason and it wouldn't be at all surprising to see him click up that score or even better.

He has pitched in as many or more innings than any other twirler in the big show and that is a good indication that Donie Bush is taking full advantage of the good form shown by the big fellow this year.

It's really too bad the Pirates hit the bad breaks during the early part of the season. Pittsburgh has one of the best ball clubs under the big top that goes despite the terrible beating they took at the hands of the Yankees last Fall. They had their misfortunes earlier this year but they have done a good job of climbing since they obtained a fresh grip and those victories rung up by Grimes have played no small part in the showing they have made.

A lot of fans could never figure why John McGraw gave up the spit ball and the same goes for Uncle Robbie, of Brooklyn, who apparently is striking snags in following the precedent of bringing a pennant to Dodgerland as has been his habit during most Presidential election years.

And so Burleigh is tossing them high, wide and handsome for the Pirates and probably neither McGraw or Robinson would admit they'd made a mistake even if they thought they had—managers are like that.

While Grimes is having a bang-up season on the mound he's adding more horses to his string of trotting nags. Maybe it isn't generally known that Grimes goes in for the high steppers but he owns one of the biggest stables of trotting horses in the West. He's always been a lover of dogs and horses and until this year his hobby was buying bird dogs. This Spring he switched his affection to the trotters and from last reports he owned a herd of 23—if a bunch of trotters can be referred to as a herd. He is fondling an ambition to become a trainer when his beard becomes so long that it gets mixed up with his arms while winding up on the hill.

With every pay check that he gets from Barney Dreyfuss Burleigh sets part of it aside for the purchase of more high-class horse flesh and he's campaigning his string over the half-mile ovals. His stables, by the way, are located at Minerva, Ohio.

So when Grimes gets too feeble to twist over the benders to the opposing batmen he'll still have a lot of speed around him, but from the way he's performing this year it is likely he won't be allowed to become a trainer of high steppers for some time to come.

GOVERNOR SMITH ENCOURAGED OVER N. J. OUTLOOK

HAS HIGH HOPES OF DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS THIS FALL

SPEAKS WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO CRITICAL EASTERN STATE

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Spring Lake, N. J., Aug. 27.—(UP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith will leave here today highly encouraged over prospects of democratic success in this critical state as a result of the tumultuous demonstration he has received since he entered it, four days ago.

The governor and his family will go by motor to New York city. The candidate is expected to remain a day or two in New York for conferences with political leaders regarding his itinerary, not yet completed.

Smith's invasion of New Jersey, is regarded as an excellent psychological move. It was friendly territory, but the exuberant reception by more than 100,000 people placed the governor before the country at the outset as a man with a popular appeal.

He revealed himself as a talented political showman of the calibre of Bryan and Roosevelt. He evokes public curiosity. He has tricks which bring a smile. His whole show here was in pantomime, for he made no speech.

The governor will attend the farm dinner at Syracuse, Wednesday night. Thursday he will be the chief figure on "governor's day" at the fair, and probably will make a speech, non-political in character.

Valuable Palm Product

Palm oil is obtained from the pulp of the fruit of several species of palm. When fresh it is of an orange tint, sweetish taste and violetlike odor. It has the consistency of butter, for which it is sometimes used, and, like butter, easily becomes rancid. It is used in candle and soap making, and, on account of its pleasant odor, as a scent for toilet preparations.

Repudiates Smith

Repudiating the candidacy of Governor Smith, Miss Nina Falk, Democratic committeewoman in Iowa and delegate to the Houston convention, has pledged allegiance to Herbert Hoover, whom she calls "the best friend the farmer ever had."

Practical Basement Workshop a Boon to Every Home

PROPER HEATING PLANT LOCATION IS VITAL TO PLAN

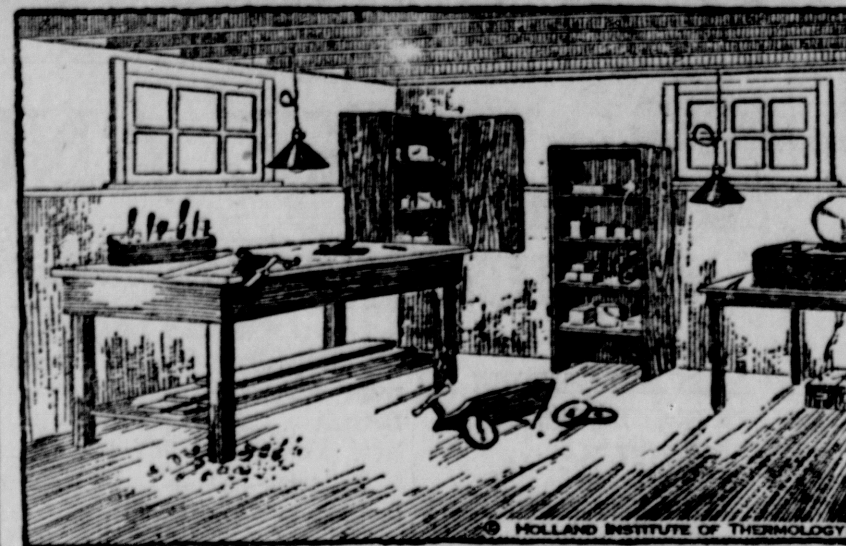

Nearly every basement has room for a regular home workshop, which can be fitted up with a few hours work and slight expense. There are a few hard and fast rules to be observed in doing this, according to the Holland Institute of Thermology, which has just completed an analysis of economical ways of using the basement space in a series of representative dwellings.

To begin with, the placement of the central heating plant should equalize, as far as possible, the length of all warm air pipes. This means that the furnace should be placed as near the center of the house as possible.

There is one exception to this basic rule: if the main living rooms are exposed to the north or the west, where the highest and coldest winds prevail, the heating plant should be placed toward that direction. In this way, the warm air pipes to those rooms will be shorter, and will deliver more heat to the parts of the house that require it most.

Of course, the position of the basement stairs will be determined by that of the staircase leading to the upper story. The fuel-room should be laid out between the wall beside a driveway and the furnace room. Finally, it is most economical to place the laundry tubs beneath the kitchen or the bathroom, so that the cost of the water-piping will be reduced to a minimum.

These rules are not difficult to observe in laying out the basement of the average home, and the study of typical basement plans by the Holland Institute of Thermology shows that a little ingenuity and intelligent effort usually will leave a good-sized space for an extra room. This fact is illustrated by the plan shown here, which was taken from an actual house-plan and laid out with a primary view to practicability.

The presence of the vapor-air heating plant will keep the workshop warm and dry, with a proper circulation of air at the right humidity. The partitions are of matched lumber or wall-board nailed to a 2x4 studding. The floor joists above need not be sealed unless sound-deadening is desired. The masonry walls of the basement are not lined with wood or wallboard, but should be painted or whitewashed.

Lighting is an important feature, as the shop should be available for work during the long winter evenings. If electricity is available, one or more extension drop-cords should be run in, with a high-powered bulb and opaque shades. An adjustable slide slipped onto the cord will enable the worker to move it about and hang it over the bench at the right height.

Directly under one of the windows is the right place for the workbench and its stool. Above it on the wall a rack should be hung for small tools. Shelves for larger implements, materials and articles in the process of making might be added, for they will keep the room passably neat. A good-sized hinged box and a large waste-basket also will help in the direction.

HOOVER JR. BOOSTS FLYING

Herbert Hoover Jr., who is associated with the Guggenheim Foundation for Aeronautics, paid a recent visit to Chicago on a survey to collect data regarding the economic phase of aviation. At Republican headquarters he met with Roy West, party leader, and explained his work. He said he would return to California "in time to vote in November."

Priority Unsettled

There was considerable jealousy between the two Dakotas as to which should be admitted to the Union first. When the papers were laid before President Harrison for his signature the state names were concealed. Afterward the papers were read and no one knew which was signed first.

Preserving Corn Meal

Since corn meal spoils rather easily, special attention should be given to the way in which it is stored. It should be kept in a cool, dry place and should be closely covered to exclude insects. This applies to the mill and the shop as well as the home. The water-ground meal spoils more easily than the granular meal. When convenient, therefore, it should be milled only in small quantities as needed.

AUTO DEALERS AND GARAGEMEN TO MEET

WALTER P. TYRHOLOM CHAIRMAN

Principal Speaker to be Arnon N. Benson, Executive Secretary of State Motor Trades Body

Automobile dealers and garagemen of Brainerd and surrounding territories are to meet tomorrow at the Ransford hotel in order to become better acquainted with each other and discuss ways and means of better serving the motoring public.

A. N. BENSON

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner. Arrangements are in the hands of Walter P. Tyrholm of the Walter P. Tyrholm Company.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Arnon N. Benson, Minneapolis executive secretary of the Minnesota Motor Trades Association, a statewide organization of automobile merchants who have adopted the slogan of "Better Service for the Motorists" to indicate the purpose of the association.

Mr. Tyrholm says that every automobile dealer, garageman and accessory dealer in the section is invited to attend this dinner and discussion.

This is one of a series of 25 such meetings which this association is sponsoring. As a result of this campaign it is hoped that garagemen will be in a position to more intelligently assist car owners of Minnesota in obtaining a greater number of satisfactory miles out of the vehicles which they own.

OBITUARY

John C. Huseby was born in Norway January 29, 1875. Together with his parents he came to America in 1883, to Wadena county, Minnesota. He came to Brainerd at the age of 17—and has ever since made this city his home—for a period of 36 years.

He was married in 1897 to Annie Sorenson. Their union was blessed with eight children, seven of whom are living, namely Mrs. Budd Fleener, Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. Kurt Gartner, Duluth, Mildred of Spokane, Wash., and Edgar, Robert, Marcelle, and Elaine of Brainerd. Also survived by two brothers, J. O. Huseby of Brainerd and Matt Huseby of Wadena, one sister, Mrs. Ole Klomstad of Audubon, Minn.

He passed away after a brief illness, August 22 at the age of 53 years and 6 months.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from his home and from the Norwegian - Danish Lutheran church of which he was an active member. Rev. O. L. Bolstad officiated. The junior choir sang two songs and Mrs. E. W. McCulloch accompanied by Miss Margaret Holm rendered a vocal solo. Pallbearers were C. N. Olson, Paul Dybvik, Ole Stene, Bert Olson, Helmer Dybvik, and William Olson.

Mr. Huseby was of a kind and peaceful disposition and will be missed by a large circle of friends. The well filled church and the many beautiful floral offerings were proofs of the high esteem in which he was held by those who learned to know him during the many years he resided in Brainerd.

Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

EARLY N. P. MAN HERE DIES SUNDAY

J. E. Goodman Former Fireman, Engineer, Master Mechanic Dies at Los Angeles

Left Brainerd Five Years Ago; Was Member of Aurora Lodge; Funeral Tomorrow

J. E. Goodman, aged 78 years, who saw active service as fireman and engineer of the Northern Pacific Railway Company during the early days of the company here, who was later promoted to master mechanic over the Duluth division and retired on a pension five years ago passed away at his home in Los Angeles, Calif., at 11:30 a. m. yesterday, according to a telegram received from Mrs. Goodman this morning.

Word of his death was dispatched to G. W. Chadbourne, secretary of the Aurora Lodge No. 100 of the Blue Lodge of Masons of which Mr. Goodman was a member of high standing. Telegrams of condolence have since been sent by the lodge and intimate friends in Brainerd to Mrs. Goodman.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at Los Angeles under Masonic auspices, according to word here.

Mr. Goodman was received in the local lodge on November 5, 1880 and his service to the lodge and community has since been highly praised by members and citizens.

Retiring on a pension January 1, 1923 after 44 consecutive years of service with the Northern Pacific Railway Co., Mr. Goodman and Mrs. Goodman left Brainerd for Los Angeles where the deceased spent his remaining years.

Mr. Goodman's progress with the N. P. is recorded in the fact that he received promotions to higher positions as he continued in the service. For several years he was general air brake inspector of the entire Northern Pacific railway system with headquarters at St. Paul.

PROTEST NAMING GIRL IN CHARGE

Eleven Girls at Brainerd Laundry Start Strike All Their Own This Morning

25 REMAIN AT WORK

Girl Strikers Tell City About It in Automobile Ride Through Streets

Eleven lady employees of the Brainerd Laundry, South Broadway, went on a strike all of their own this morning in protest to the appointment of a fellow girl employee to head of operation.

Not only did the girls go on strike but they desired to tell the world about it for they climbed into a Ford touring car took down the top and proceeded to ride through the streets of Brainerd.

The girls walked out shortly after starting work at 7 a. m. today and up to this afternoon were still riding in the Ford car through Brainerd's downtown streets.

The employees who agreed to walk out had been with the company from three to eight years occupying positions of sorters, checkers, and ironers.

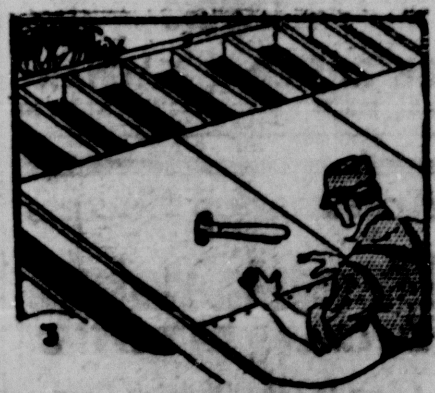

The strike failed to seriously cripple operation at the plant, as 29 girls and five men stuck to their jobs.

E. F. Meyer, of St. Cloud, proprietor, was expected in Brainerd this afternoon. He will endeavor to straighten out the tangle.

F. H. Gruenhagen, who is interested in the laundry, said some misunderstanding has occurred in the flat work department. Other girls were quickly secure to take the place of those who had walked out and the laundry is running full force and getting out its work in regular and workmanlike schedule.

Pleads Guilty to Charge of Driving Motor Vehicle While Intoxicated

It took nine hours for a couple bottles of beer to take effect on him, Leon Bushway this morning told the court as he entered a plea of guilty to the charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Judge J. H. Warner and Chief of Police Thomas J. Templeton were dubious of the story told by Bushway who asserted that he had several drinks of beer while fishing yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the liquor failing to take effect until 12 o'clock midnight when he drove his car into the splashboard on the Mississippi river bridge, Laurel street, overturning.

A fine of $75 and costs was imposed by Judge Warner in municipal court. Bushway was endeavoring to raise the fine assessed this morning. If unsuccessful he must remain in the city jail for 60 days.

"What is your plea" asked Judge Warner.

"Well sir, I am guilty, I cannot say no," replied the prisoner.

Chief of Police Templeton who explained the story of the accident on the Laurel street bridge in the absence of Patrolman August Swanson who made the arrest, stated that the accident happened shortly after midnight as Bushway was returning to his home in West Brainerd from downtown.

"Bushway struck the fence on the bridge, tipped the car over on its side and was unable to get out of the car. Officer Swanson extricated him from the damaged car" said Chief Templeton.

"Where did you get your liquor" questioned Judge Warner.

"Oh, here and there," replied Bushway, "I was out fishing at 3 p. m. and got the drinks then."

"Didn't the beer start to take effect before midnight" questioned the court further.

"To tell the truth it didn't" replied Bushway.

"What was your condition at 6 o'clock" asked Chief Templeton.

"I was sober" asserted Bushway.

SCOUT BOARD TO GATHER AT CAMP

Reports of Summer Activities at Clearwater and Gull to be Received

PLAN 1929 SEASON

Will Discuss Advisability of Combining Two Camps

The Crow Wing Area Council executive board of Boy Scouts will gather at Camp Clearwater tomorrow for a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. The men on the board have invited their wives for the dinner.

The dinner will be prepared by Mrs. N. G. Nelson, while several of the older scouts will do the serving.

The meeting will be held to discuss a report on activities of the past season and to arrange a program for the caddy camp next summer. The caddy camp is located on Gull Lake where the boys paid their expenses by caddying at neighboring golf courses.

The advisability of combining the two camps on Gull Lake will also be discussed. Clearwater camp has been in existence for the past four years. The caddy camp was instituted this year, opening July 1. It will close September 2.

Newsboys in Attempt to Sell Papers Prevented Driver From Ob-serving Signal

Plausible stories told by Sam Phillips and Donald Marshall in municipal court this morning as to the reason why they "went" through the signal at the Sixth and Laurel street intersection as it flashed "stop" yesterday, gained for them suspension of a fine, although costs of $2 were assessed each.

Phillips said he entered the intersection as the signal showed "go" but stopped his car when two newsboys jumped on the running boards of his car to sell him a paper. When he started again the signal showed "stop" but instead of reversing he continued through. He later reported to Chief Templeton who witnessed the incident.

Don Marshall, driver for a taxi company here, stated that he attempted to stop the car at the intersection but the brakes failed to hold and the car went through the signal. No fine was imposed, it being Marshall's first offense.

WALTER P. TYRHOLOM CHAIRMAN

Principal Speaker to be Arnon N. Benson, Executive Secretary of State Motor Trades Body

Automobile dealers and garagemen of Brainerd and surrounding territories are to meet tomorrow at the Ransford hotel in order to become better acquainted with each other and discuss ways and means of better serving the motoring public.

A. N. BENSON

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner. Arrangements are in the hands of Walter P. Tyrholm of the Walter P. Tyrholm Company.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Arnon N. Benson, Minneapolis executive secretary of the Minnesota Motor Trades Association, a statewide organization of automobile merchants who have adopted the slogan of "Better Service for the Motorists" to indicate the purpose of the association.

Mr. Tyrholm says that every automobile dealer, garageman and accessory dealer in the section is invited to attend this dinner and discussion.

This is one of a series of 25 such meetings which this association is sponsoring. As a result of this campaign it is hoped that garagemen will be in a position to more intelligently assist car owners of Minnesota in obtaining a greater number of satisfactory miles out of the vehicles which they own.

OBITUARY

John C. Huseby was born in Norway January 29, 1875. Together with his parents he came to America in 1883, to Wadena county, Minnesota. He came to Brainerd at the age of 17—and has ever since made this city his home—for a period of 36 years.

He was married in 1897 to Annie Sorenson. Their union was blessed with eight children, seven of whom are living, namely Mrs. Budd Floener, Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. Kurt Gartner, Duluth, Mildred of Spokane, Wash., and Edgar, Robert, Marcelline, and Elaine of Brainerd. Also survived by two brothers, J. O. Huseby of Brainerd and Matt Huseby of Wadena, one sister, Mrs. Ole Klonstad of Audubon, Minn.

He passed away after a brief illness, August 22 at the age of 53 years and 6 months.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from his home and from the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church of which he was an active member. Rev. O. L. Bolstad officiated. The junior choir sang two songs and Mrs. E. W. McCulloch accompanied by Miss Margaret Holm rendered a vocal solo. Pallbearers were C. N. Olson, Paul Dybvik, Ole Steen, Bert Olson, Helmer Dybvik, and William Olson.

Mr. Huseby was of a kind and peaceful disposition and will be missed by a large circle of friends. The well filled church and the many beautiful floral offerings were proofs of the high esteem in which he was held by those who learned to know him during the many years he resided in Brainerd.

Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Combating Old Age

Africa Home of the Date

More than 1,000 different kinds of dates are known to the Arabs, but only 10 or 15 have proved commercially valuable in the United States and only four or five are being planted on any considerable scale. More than half the date palms in this country were introduced from Egypt.

EARLY N. P. MAN HERE DIES SUNDAY

J. E. Goodman Former Fireman, Engineer, Master Mechanic Dies at Los Angeles

Left Brainerd Five Years Ago; Was Member of Aurora Lodge; Funeral Tomorrow

J. E. Goodman, aged 78 years, who saw active service as fireman and engineer of the Northern Pacific Railway Company during the early days of the company here, who was later promoted to master mechanic over the Duluth division and retired on a pension five years ago passed away at his home in Los Angeles, Calif., at 11:30 a. m. yesterday, according to a telegram received from Mrs. Goodman this morning.

Word of his death was dispatched to G. W. Chadbourne, secretary of the Aurora Lodge No. 100 of the Blue Lodge of Masons of which Mr. Goodman was a member of high standing. Telegrams of condolence have since been sent by the lodge and intimate friends in Brainerd to Mrs. Goodman.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at Los Angeles under Masonic auspices, according to word here.

Mr. Goodman was received in the local lodge on November 5, 1880 and his service to the lodge and community has since been highly praised by members and citizens.

Retiring on a pension January 1, 1923 after 44 consecutive years of service with the Northern Pacific Railway Co., Mr. Goodman and Mrs. Goodman left Brainerd for Los Angeles where the deceased spent his remaining years.

Mr. Goodman's progress with the N. P. is recorded in the fact that he received promotions to higher positions as he continued in the service. For several years he was general air brake inspector of the entire Northern Pacific railway system with headquarters at St. Paul.

Girl Strikers Tell City About It in Automobile Ride Through Streets

Eleven lady employees of the Brainerd Laundry, South Broadway, went on a strike all of their own this morning in protest to the appointment of a fellow girl employee to head of operation.

Not only did the girls go on strike but they desired to tell the world about it for they climbed into a Ford touring car took down the top and proceeded to ride through the streets of Brainerd.

The girls walked out shortly after starting work at 7 a. m. today and up to this afternoon were still riding in the Ford car through Brainerd's downtown streets.

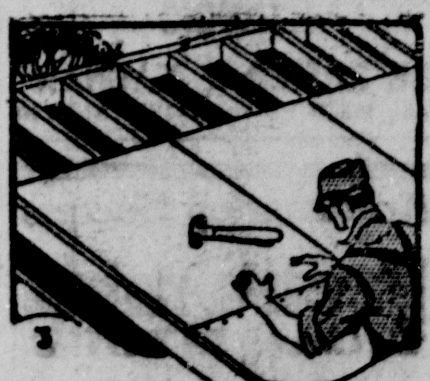

The employees who agreed to walk out had been with the company from three to eight years occupying positions of sorters, checkers, and ironers.

The strike failed to seriously cripple operation at the plant, as 20 girls and five men stuck to their jobs. E. F. Meyer, of St. Cloud, proprietor, was expected in Brainerd this afternoon. He will endeavor to straighten out the tangle.

F. H. Gruenhagen, who is interested in the laundry, said some misunderstanding has occurred in the flat work department. Other girls were quickly secure to take the place of those who had walked out and the laundry is running full force and getting out its work in regular and workmanlike schedule.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Both are employed by W. B. Lingard, wealthy industrialist. Lingard, after years of search, finds the sweetheart of his youth, Marise de Rense, with whom Alveda is living. Goldie, eighteen-year-old sophisticate, learns that Marise is not her sister—but her mother! She demands an explanation and Marise pours out the story of her tragic early marriage—to a convict who has since died. Goldie leaves home in anger—but not before she creates a break between Alveda and Gary, who sails for Italy on a business trip. Later Lingard is forced to make a hurried trip to Paris and takes Alveda along as secretary, the Countess Dellamanc, his niece, acting as chaperone. In Paris Gary joins Clive Mortimer in running a rum cargo from Canada. The car crashes and Goldie is killed. Alveda returns from Paris to find Marise in despair. Gary returns to Italy to finish his work there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LVIII.

"YOU are mistaken!" said Alveda, her earnest eyes on her employer as she stood in the inner office by his desk. "Marise de Rense was never at any time engaged to Clive Mortimer. In my opinion—she was greatly daring, but for Marise's sake she'd make the venture—there has only been one man she's ever really cared about!"

William B. Lingard cleared his throat. He was much agitated by this conversation. Alveda could see that.

"Sit down, Miss Ray. I—I appreciate your kindly interest in your friend. And in the sudden and tragic death of her—er—her daughter, she has been greatly bereaved."

"She has. She's a very fine woman, Mr. Lingard."

Forgetting her shyness, in Marise's cause, and the difference in position between herself and her employer, Alveda drew a chair close to him, seated herself, and fixed pleading, anxious eyes upon his rugged face.

He tapped with a nervous finger on a blotter. "Miss de Rense has my deepest sympathy. I've known her for some time. She's had, I understand, a pretty hard life?"

"Immensely so."

"And now that her—er—her friend is under arrest—taken in conjunction with the loss of her daughter—it makes it doubly difficult for her?"

"If you mean Clive Mortimer, his share in the accident when Goldie was killed is certainly terrible for Marise to think about—but I am sure, beyond that, she has no personal feeling for the man, unless it's hatred! I would, too, were I in her shoes!"

Through his horn-rimmed glasses, William B. Lingard gave his young secretary a swift appraising glance.

hole in his desk he drew out a checkbook, holding it towards Alveda. "Make out what you think is necessary, and I'll sign—"

The girl flushed scarlet, putting her two hands behind her back.

"No! No! I never thought of such a thing! Marise would be furious!" She bit her underlip. Here was an "impasse."

William B. Lingard was regarding her, a puzzled expression on his face.

"Then what—?"

How dense he was! Didn't he realize that Marise cared for him? That he'd been in her heart these many weary years?

Oh! for diplomacy!

"She's broken-hearted," blurted out Marise's champion, "she doesn't eat or sleep and, unless something's done quick—unless someone she cares about can rouse her—goodness alone knows what'll happen! At night I hear her sobbing, and talking to herself! She's heading for brain fever—a sanitarium—maybe suicide! Oh! don't you understand?" And Alveda, tears in her eyes, leaned forward and gripped her employer's hand.

A light began to dawn on him. He mumbled:—"What was that you said in the beginning? Something about 'only one man in her life she's really cared about'? Did you mean her first husband?"

"Husband nothing!" cried Alveda, casting prudence to the winds, and eyes overflowing. "You—Mr. Lingard—you're the person Marise has never, all these years, forgotten. You're the one man Marise has always cared about!"

At 9 o'clock that evening, Alveda—who had been out in Central Park for a breath of air—reentered the house on West Fortieth street.

Marise—although the night was torrid—had refused to accompany her. Marise wanted to be alone.

As Alveda—full of anxiety for her friend—let herself into the hall with her latchkey, she heard the sound of subdued voices coming from the living-room.

The lights had not even turned on yet, but through the unopened window a shaft of illumination penetrated from an arc-lamp in the street outside.

Marise was on the old settee, a man's arm protectively around her shoulders, her tear-stained face half hidden on the sleeve of his coat!

"My darling!" he was saying to Marise, over and over again. "My darling..."

The man was William B. Lingard!

PASTOR ENDS THREE MONTHS' FIGHT TO RETAIN HIS PULPIT

White Bear, Minn., Aug. 27.—(U.P.)—The fight of A. H. Crombie, Presbyterian pastor of this village, to retain his status as a minister was believed ended today following his announcement from the pulpit yesterday that he had perhaps made his last appearance in the church.

Crombie, former pastor of Lead, S. D., who was deposed by the South Dakota Synod, ostensibly for "extreme fundamentalism" had made a three month fight to retain his post here.

The elders of the church here who had recently refused to dismiss Crombie on the order of the St. Paul Presbytery were said to have accepted his resignation and will fill the pulpit with another minister.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Both are employed by W. B. Lingard, wealthy industrialist. Lingard, after years of search, finds the sweetheart of his youth, Marise de Rense, with whom Alveda is living. Goldie, eighteen-year-old sophisticated, learns that Marise is not her sister—but her mother! She demands an explanation and Marise pours out the story of her tragic early marriage—to a convict who has since died. Goldie leaves home in anger—but not before she creates a break between Alveda and Gary, who sails for Italy on a business trip. Later Lingard is forced to make a hurried trip to Paris and takes Alveda along as secretary, the Countess Dellamanna, his niece, acting as chaperone. In Paris Gary awaits them. He and Alveda renew their troth. Back home Goldie joins Clive Mortimer in running a rum cargo from Canada. The car crashes and Goldie is killed. Alveda returns from Paris to find Marise in despair. Gary returns to Italy to finish his work there.

CHAPTER LVIII.

"YOU are mistaken!" said Alveda, her earnest eyes on her employer as she stood in the inner office by his desk. "Marise de Rense was never at any time engaged to Clive Mortimer. In my opinion—she was greatly daring, but for Marise's sake she'd make the venture—there has only been one man she's ever really cared about."

William B. Lingard cleared his throat. He was much agitated by this conversation. Alveda could see that.

"Sit down, Miss Ray. I—I appreciate your kindly interest in your friend. And in the sudden and tragic death of her—er—her daughter, she has been greatly bereaved."

"She has. She's a very fine woman, Mr. Lingard."

Forgetting her shyness, in Marise's cause, and the difference in position between herself and her employer, Alveda drew a chair close to him, seated herself, and fixed pleading, anxious eyes upon his rugged face.

"Immensely so."

"And now that her—er—er her friend is under arrest—taken in conjunction with the loss of her daughter—it makes it doubly difficult for her?"

"If you mean Clive Mortimer, his share in the accident when Goldie was killed is certainly terrible for Marise to think about—but I am sure, beyond that, she has no personal feeling for the man, unless it's hatred! I would, too, were I in her shoes!"

Through his horn-rimmed glasses, William B. Lingard gave his young secretary a swift appraising glance.

hole in his desk he drew out a checkbook, holding it towards Alveda. "Make out what you think is necessary, and I'll sign."

William B. Lingard was regarding her, a puzzled expression on his face.

"Then what—?"

How dense he was! Didn't he realize that Marise cared for him? That he'd been in her heart these many weary years?

Oh! for diplomacy!

"She's broken-hearted," blurted out Marise's champion, "she doesn't eat or sleep and, unless something's done quick—unless someone she cares about can rouse her—goodness alone knows what'll happen! At nights I hear her sobbing, and talking to herself! She's heading for brain fever—a sanitarium—maybe suicide! Oh! don't you understand?" And Alveda, tears in her eyes, leaned forward and gripped her employer's hand.

A light began to dawn on him. He mumbled: "What was that you said in the beginning? Something about 'only one man in her life she's really cared about'? Did you mean her first husband?"

"Husband nothing!" cried Alveda, casting prudence to the winds, and eyes overflowing. "You—Mr. Lingard—you're the person Marise has never, all these years, forgotten. You're the one man Marise has always cared about!"

At 9 o'clock that evening, Alveda—who had been out in Central Park for a breath of air—reentered the house on West Fortieth street.

Marise—although the night was torrid—had refused to accompany her. Marise wanted to be alone.

As Alveda—full of anxiety for her friend—let herself into the hall with her latchkey, she heard the sound of subdued voices coming from the living-room.

The lights had not been turned on yet, but through the unshaded window a shaft of illumination penetrated from an arc-lamp in the street outside.

Marise was on the old settee, a man's arm protectively around her shoulders, her tear-stained face half hidden on the sleeve of his coat.

MICKIE SAYS

White Bear, Minn., Aug. 27.—(UP)—

The fight of A. H. Crombie, Presbyterian pastor of this village, to retain his status as a minister was believed ended today following his announcement from the pulpit yesterday that he had perhaps made his last appearance in the church.

Crombie, former pastor of Lead, S. D., who was deposed by the South Dakota Synod, ostensibly for "extreme fundamentalism" had made a three month fight to retain his post here.

The elders of the church here who had recently refused to dismiss Crombie on the order of the St. Paul Presbytery were said to have accepted his resignation and will fill the pulpit with another minister.
